ACCUSES COUNTESS OF TWO BETRAYALS

Trial for Plotting Husband's

Death Doubly Treacherous.

VENICE, May 12.—"The Countess Tarnokska is guilty of double treachery—she has betrayed both the murdered man and the murderer."

This was the concluding sentence of Prosecutor Carneluttl's address to the jury today at the trial of "The Enchantress," accused of plotting the death of her husband, Count Kamarowski. The prosecutor maintained that her codefendants as well as herself, were guilty, and that each acted of his own free will.

The countess, folowing her illness of yesterday, was able to be in court today.

Clear weather is promised by the Weather Bureau for the next few days, but the forecaster declines to make any reassuring promises about the temperature.

A light frost is predicted for to-night, and this may be repeated to-morrow night. There are no signs, however, of any March like storms or April showers.

Bulletins from various parts of the country today showed that fair weather prevails in practically every part of the United States. The temperature is spromised by the weather Bureau for the next few days, but the forecaster declines to make any reassuring promises about the temperature.
